

COMING THIS SUMMER!

EXPERIENCE A TEAM APPROACH TO RURAL PRACTICE

in a six-week residential field experience

MAY 28 – JULY 9, 2008

Katherine Shaw Bethea Hospital
Dixon, Illinois

We're looking for health professions students in Dentistry · Medicine · Nursing · Pharmacy · Public Health · Social Work who are interested in an interdisciplinary training experience in a rural setting. A stipend is awarded to each student. Meals and limited housing are also provided.

For more information and an application contact:

Vicki Weidenbacher-Hoper
vweide1@uic.edu · (815) 395-5854

APPLICATION DEADLINE IS APRIL 1, 2008

SPONSORED BY

Katherine Shaw Bethea Hospital, Dixon, Illinois
The University of Illinois, National Center for Rural Health Professions, Rockford
Northern Illinois Area Health Education Center

"Working with physicians, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, and social workers helped me understand how professionals can work together to improve the health of the whole community."

Chris Dickinson, M2 medical student, Rural Medical Education Program, University of Illinois College of Medicine at Rockford

"It's an excellent way to gain understanding of how health professionals from various disciplines can work together."

Colleen Dickinson, a student in the Rural Medical Education Program at the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Rockford and a native of Amboy.

"Our department benefited from the pandemic influenza materials the students developed for us as part of a public awareness campaign. The project was an excellent opportunity for the students to gain an understanding of the wide variety of programs and services available through a local health department."

Cathy Ferguson, BS, MPH, Administrator, Lee County Health Department, Dixon, Ill.

"The fact that it's offered locally is nice, but the interdisciplinary experience is the biggest benefit."

Isabelle Thompson, a registered nursing student at Sauk Valley Community College, Dixon, Ill.